"We Will Not Leave Foochow," Bishop Cables "Telegraph" BRITONS WILL STAY IN FUKIEN CAPITAL

"INVASION NEAR" RADIO MESSAGE

"AN INVASION of Foochow is apparently imminent."

This dramatic message was received by the Hongkong "Telegraph" this morning from the Anglican Bishop of Fukien, Rt. Rev. John Hind, who is remaining at his headquarters at the Church Missionary Society in Foochow.

The Bishop of Fukien added in his exclusive message to the "Telegraph" that all British residents of Foochow had decided to remain at their posts, and not to accept the offer of the naval authorities to evacuate them to Hongkong. ONE FAMILY LEFT

"Only one family has evacuated," he telegraphed, "They left Foochow on health grounds."

"All other Britons are remaining."

The Bishop of Fukien has been in China for thirty-seven years, and practically all that period has been spent in Fukien Province, where he arrived as a missionary a few weeks after his ordination in 1902.

There are well over 100 Britons in Foochow, including about 40 missionaries.

SOVIET AND BRITAIN Negotiations Continuing

LONDON, July 2. A LONG report has been received at the Foreign Office from Sir William Seeds on his conversation with M. Molotov yesterday.

It is expected, says "Reuter's" diplomatic correspondent, that another meeting will take place at an early date. The reason is being cleared of all possible misunderstandings regarding the problems involved by the question of guarantees to smaller States.—Reuter.

Talks in Paris

PARIS, July 2.—The visit to the French Foreign Office of Dr. J. L. London, the Netherlands Minister to Paris, is reported to have considerable significance, and it is stated that the diplomat told M. Georges Bonnet that his Government took exception to the contemplated guarantee for the integrity of the Baltic States by Britain and France.

He also informed M. Bonnet that this objection by Holland was shared by a large number of small neutral Powers.

M. London at the same time expressed the Netherlands Government's concern at the too intimate understanding between France and Britain and Soviet Russia.—Trans-Ocean.

Term Paper 40 x 40 Feet

PROVO, Utah. A record for the size of college class assignments is claimed by De-Von Anderson, Brigham Young University student. Assigned to prepare a term paper covering world history since the year 814, Anderson condensed the report on one sheet of paper—40 square feet in area.

According to the latest list, British missionaries attached to the Church Missionary Society's missions and still in Foochow are, in addition to Bishop and Mrs. Hind:

Rev. and Mrs. W. P. W. Williams, Rev. and Mrs. A. W. Norton, Rev. and Mrs. E. M. Norton, Dr. and Mrs. J. L. A. Webster, Misses C. Bryant, E. M. Mulholland, A. Wolfe, L. B. Craig, I. F. Grindley, S. C. Kendall, D. Stubbs, H. Webster, W. Williamson, A. M. Hind, E. M. Brown, E. Izard, A. C. Townsend and G. Gordon.

Mongol Border Fighting

HSINKING, July 3. The Manchoukuo-Outer Mongol frontier is again torn by hostilities as Japanese and Manchoukuo forces stated vigorous counter-attacks on Thursday night against the Soviet and Outer Mongol forces along an extended front on the right bank of the Kharin River.

Frontier dispatches indicate that about 1,000 Soviet and Outer Mongol troops supported by artillery pieces and about 20 tanks crossed the border about 10 miles southeast of Nomonhan about 9 o'clock on Thursday night and began to attack the Japanese and Manchoukuo positions.

Immediately responding to the Outer Mongol action, Japanese and Manchoukuo artillery and machine-gun units went into action and a fierce fighting ensued; frontier dispatches reveal.

Following several hours of heavy fighting, the dispatches claim, the Soviet and Outer Mongol forces were repulsed.

Spirited engagements took place at other points of the frontier and there are indications that the hostilities will spread along an extended front.

Heavy reinforcements are arriving at the Outer Mongol frontier and the Soviet and Outer Mongol forces at present concentrated near the border are estimated at over 5,000.

The "Asahi Shimbun" reports that a mixed cavalry, infantry and mechanized force including about 1,400 men invaded the Manchoukuo

JAPANESE PLANES NEAR MACAO

MACAO, July 2.—Japanese warplanes, flying in V-formation, flew close to the Macao frontier this morning en route to an island objective not far from the Portuguese Colony.

The drone of the planes brought thousands of people out of their homes. From some of the roof-tops, the Japanese planes were clearly visible to residents of Macao.

The planes, which had evidently flown from the Ladrões Islands, headed westward in the direction of Pakchiu and Kongmoon.

Soon afterwards the dull sound of four explosions was distinctly audible, indicating that an island near Macao had been bombed.—Our Own Correspondent.

LATEST NEWS FROM DANZIG Barbed Wire Replaces Harvest On Frontier

DANZIG, July 2. THE SPEECH of Herr Albert Forster, leader of the Danzig Nazis, in which he declared that the people of Danzig wished, and would return to the Reich, was delivered to-day at the District Party Day celebration, arranged some time ago, and was interrupted by wild applause.

I. R. A. BOMB OUTRAGES Anxious Week-End In Britain

LONDON, July 2. BRITAIN passed through an anxious week-end with no fewer than eight bomb outrages, one great conflagration and a fire on board a ship being reported, I.R.A. sabotage being suspected in every case.

All fire brigades in Leeds were set on fire early this morning, when about 300 tons of oil were destroyed. Flames from the explosion which started the blaze shot up for several hundred feet.

An oil refinery in Leeds and the vicinity were halted to the scene to prevent the flames from spreading. At the East India Docks in the Port of London, the 1,500 ton steamer Maria caught on fire. The vessel had mixed cargo aboard.

About 120 firemen were employed in fighting the flames. Six men afterwards were taken to hospital suffering from smoke and gas poisoning.

However, the steamer is not regarded as a total loss.—Trans-Ocean.

Chalk Talks Go Green

EAST LANSING, Mich. "Greenboards" will replace blackboards in the $1,020,000 fieldhouse gymnasium at Michigan State College, to be completed by January 1. Chalk talks for athletes will be performed with black crayons on green glass surfaces, supposed to eliminate "blind spots" in the room and reduce eye-strain.

Non-Essential Imports Prohibited CHINA RESTRICTS FOREIGN TRADE

British, Other Foreign Goods To Be Curtailed

CHUNGKING, July 3.

IN AN attempt to cope with the adverse trade balance, the Ministry of Finance, in an important statement late last evening, has announced sweeping restrictions of all non-essential imports into China.

This vigorous measure, whose purpose is to check the difficulties confronted by the Stabilization Fund and to strengthen China's resources for the purchase of necessary imports from abroad, will, it is estimated, save the nation $230,000,000 (£13,000,000) a year.

The announcement of the Ministry of Finance states that as from date, a total of 234 listed items in the Import Tariff will be prohibited from entering China.

Foreign goods affected by this measure, according to a list released by the Ministry, include wine, cigars and cigarettes, sea products, silk goods, toilette requisites, toys, medicine, meat, candy and sugar manufactured goods, tinned goods, fruits, vegetables, and non-essential woolen and cotton goods, timber, paper, bamboo, clay and stone ware and liquid fuels which may be substituted by other fuels.

To Operate At Once

The announcement states that the Inspector-General of Customs has been duly instructed by wire to stop the import of those goods forthwith. It is emphasized that the money saved by the prohibition of these import articles will be used by the Government for the purchase from abroad of various necessities.

The foreign exchange involved is thus not affected except in its use, and friendly foreign Powers will be able to maintain their trade with China.

The Ministry of Finance feels confident that full understanding of the foreign Powers will be assured.—Central News.

Facilities For Exports

CHUNGKING, July 3. As China's imports are restricted, Dr. H. H. Kung, President of the Executive Yuan and Minister of Finance, announced late last night, further important liberalization of regulations governing the nation's exports in order to stimulate production and commodity credit agreements.

In view of the barter agreements and the export trade, the nation's products will continue to be handled primarily by Government trading organizations; but other export goods will be handled through ordinary channels of trade.

Exchange in respect of all exports, according to the announcement, is to be delivered to the Bank of China and the Bank of Communications at the official rates of exchange of the Central Bank of China, but exporters will receive a sum based upon the difference between the official rates and the rates jointly announced from time to time by the Bank of China and the Bank of Communications.

After arrangements have been made for the sale of the relative exchange of the Bank of China or the Bank of Communications, certificates of customs clearance will be issued by these two banks.

In order to develop export trade, special efforts are being made to improve and co-ordinate transportation in the interior and to remove hindrances to the free movement of goods.—Central News.

Britain's National Forces Reviewed Premier Broadcasts Message From King

LONDON, July 2.

A STRIKING message from the King on national defence preparations was read by the Prime Minister, Mr. Neville Chamberlain, in the course of his broadcast to-night.

His Majesty, after referring to the great pleasure afforded him and the Queen in witnessing the march past of the national service volunteers in Hyde Park during the afternoon, says that "to us it was a most impressive demonstration of the spirit of service which everywhere is present in the nation to-day, and which shows itself in the determination to make the country ready to meet any emergency, whatever the sacrifices or the inconveniences entailed."

"Our civil defence force is now established. The call has been answered and volunteers are already at work. I want them to know how much I admire their public spirit, and I want also to express my appreciation of the wives who are giving up their home life to let their husbands spend their evenings in national service."

"Strong And Safe"

"I am sure the volunteers, whether men or women, will feel rewarded by the service of thanksgiving at Westminster Abbey on the occasion of their return from Canada, Newfoundland and the United States."

The Cabinet was represented by Sir Thomas Inskip and Colonel Colville.

The congregation sang the National Anthem at the beginning of the service.

Dean La Biliere read the prayers for the King and the royal family, which were followed by a special prayer for peace.—Reuter.

Country's Thanks

"I remembered, too, the reservists and territorials who had been called from their work and their homes to man our defences at this time. The country's thanks are due to all of them and to the personnel of those forces, regular and auxiliary, who have throughout firmly shouldered their great responsibility."

"You all know our preparations are designed not to provoke war, but to preserve peace. We still preserve the hope that the nations may learn to live together in fellowship and harmony."

"But in the meantime we are resolved to leave nothing undone to maintain our country's security, and to that task national service volunteers are making a contribution which deserves all our gratitude."

Premier's Speech

The Prime Minister added a few weighty remarks coupled with an unmistakable warning at the conclusion of reading the royal message. "We are living in critical and dangerous times," he said. "We ourselves are a peaceful nation, and we desire no quarrels with anyone. But let no-one make the mistake of supposing we are not ready to throw our whole strength into the scale if need be, to resist aggression, whether against ourselves or against those whose independence we have undertaken to defend."

In beginning the broadcast, Mr. Chamberlain said that the afternoon parade had been something quite new in our history, for it was the first time our civil defence forces had been recognised as a fourth arm, standing side by side with the auxiliaries of the three fighting services as a definite part of the

20,000 IN REVIEW

King Takes Salute In Hyde Park

LONDON, July 2.

THE KING, accompanied by the Queen and Queen Mary, to-day reviewed in Hyde Park, 20,000 men and women, representing 2,000,000 national service volunteers.

They saw a composite picture of the whole national service organisation of the United Kingdom, including every branch of A.R.P. service and authority in the country.

The march past, in which 200 mechanised vehicles took part, lasted for over an hour.

In the morning the King and Queen attended a service of thanksgiving at Westminster Abbey on the occasion of their return from Canada, Newfoundland and the United States.

The Cabinet was represented by Sir Thomas Inskip and Colonel Colville.

The congregation sang the National Anthem at the beginning of the service.

Dean La Biliere read the prayers for the King and the royal family, which were followed by a special prayer for peace.—Reuter.

War Or Peace?

LONDON, July 2.—In a statement to "Reuter" on the international situation to-day, Mr. Arthur Greenwood, acting leader of the Opposition, emphasised that Britain desires no war, and she will unshakingly stand by her principles of freedom.

She is determined to resist further acts of aggression similar to those which recently led to the present un-settlement, uncertainty and apprehension in Europe, and which greatly imperilled the very foundations of civilisation by destroying the supremacy of the law and substituting the power of the mailed fist.

"The desire for war or peace, therefore, rests entirely in the hands of the potential aggressor. He, and not we, will start the die."

Mr. Greenwood said he hoped that people of Germany would earnestly grasp this truth with all its implications. He reiterated that there was no quarrel with the German people. The conflict is between the policy of aggression and the principles of free negotiation for a settlement of claims and disputes.—Reuter Special.

Murder in the front room YARD HUNT FOR WOMAN WHO HAD DRINKS AT FLAT

POOLE (Dorset).
A MAN and a woman who had drinks and smoked cigarettes in the Brank-some flat of Mr. Walter Dinnivan, sixty-four-year-old wealthy property owner, on the night that he was murdered are being hunted by Scotland-yard.

Mr. Walter Dinnivan Jun., grandson of the murdered man, who was formerly stationed in Hongkong posed with Miss Trebilcock.

Buying Hat May Take a Woman Weeks

WHEN a woman buys a hat it may take her seconds—or weeks.

So, at least, it would appear from the answers given by women in different walks of life who were asked at random recently what they thought about this all-important task.

It will be recalled that counsel in a case at Brentford recently expressed astonishment when a commercial traveller said it took him two and a half hours to sell 14 hats to a shop assistant.

For sheer endurance the record seems to be held by Mrs. Carr, of the Women's Advertising Club, who confessed she has been trying to buy herself a new spring hat for the past three weeks.

"SO RUPICULOUS"

"I like to look reasonably smart," she said, "but I hate to look ridiculous, and most of the hats in the shops to-day make us look like clowns."

"So I shall continue to take my time." Here are some other "confessions":

Miss Valerie Taylor, the actress: "Sometimes I see a hat I like in the window, go straight in and buy it, and am out of the shop again in a few seconds. At other times I try on 30 or 40 hats, but do not like any of them."

Miss Mary Ellis, another well-known actress: "Even when I am able to choose quickly I continue to try on about a dozen other hats, just out of politeness to the shopkeeper. Then I make my final selection choosing the hat I had decided upon first."

Miss M. Ambrose, telephone operator: "Anything from ten minutes to one hour. If it is a small shop, with a limited selection, it does not take me long."

Miss Nora Kitchen, a publisher's reader: "From one minute to one hour. On the rare occasions when I choose a hat in one minute I have seen it in the window, found it perfect and bought it at once."

And men?

They might like to know that the manager of a leading firm of hatters gave the average time for making a decision as ten minutes.

The Fainting Drummer Boys

WHEN Drummer Boy Tanaley, of the 2nd Battalion the Grenadier Guards, went on medical parade recently, his report was marked "M. and D."—"Medicine and Duty."

He is now carrying on as usual. Boy Tanaley, doing punishment drill at Wellington Barracks recently for a minor breach of regulations, staggered and fell, half fainting, into the arms of the drill sergeant.

SEEN BY DOCTOR

The drill was abandoned and he was seen by a doctor, who told him to report again. Sixteen-year-old Drummer Boy Tanaley, of the 2nd Battalion Grenadier Guards—who fainted earlier during the Trooping of the Colour ceremony, was ordered to do extra physical training, for half an hour for a fortnight.

"NO SUGGESTION OF BLOW"

A senior officer of the Guards said: "We should regret it extremely if these two incidents gave rise to any public feeling that these boys were treated hardly."

He denied emphatically that there had been any suggestion of a blow aimed at the sergeant.

The percentage of sickness amongst the boys," he said, "is very low. Their day is well split up. There is not a great deal of drilling."

The man and woman sat at a mahogany table in the sitting room at the front of the flat.

Vital clues on which Chief Inspector L. Burt, of Scotland-yard, has been able to base his reconstructions are:—

A woman's small hair slide covered with celluloid.

Three butt ends of cork-tipped cigarettes of a brand which neither the dead man nor his family smoked.

Two glasses which had contained beer set on the table with the whisky glass which the dead man used.

A strange fingerprint on one of the beer glasses.

The police quest has now been narrowed to a search for a man and woman who could have had access to the home.

There was no sign of a forcible entry, but jewellery and money worth several hundred pounds have been stolen from the flat. The safe was rifled.

Mr. Dinnivan's movements on the day he died have now been checked. He was found dying from head wounds by his grandchildren, Hilda, aged eighteen, and her sailor brother Walter, aged twenty-one, back from service at the China station, who are now staying with Mr. H. J. Trebilcock and his family on the outskirts of Bournemouth.

SNAPSHOTS

Mr. Trebilcock said: "On Sunday afternoon Mr. Dinnivan and his grandchildren came to see us, and we had quite a little jollification in the garden. I took photographs of them."

"Mr. Dinnivan afterwards drove them in his car, taking my two children Bob, a sailor, and Kathleen, to Lulworth Cove for tea. When they returned in the evening I showed them the photos I had developed."

"They left here about seven. Kathleen and my other boy Fred went home with them. That night they went to a dance at Parkstone, leaving the old man alone."

"When Hilda and Walter went home they said good-bye to Hilda's boy friend Jack Elliot at the gate. They walked arm-in-arm down the drive, through the front door in the sun porch. They could not get in."

"They tried to force the door open with their shoulders, then to break the stained leaded-glass with their elbows. Eventually Walter, remembering how he broke the same window as a lad, put his fist through it. They had to pick the glass out and tear the lead away to make a hole big enough for Walter to get through."

"Hilda was the first to go into the room. She screamed when she saw her grandfather on the floor and the room splashed with blood."

Sir Bernard Spilsbury, Home Office pathologist, examined the flat and later made a post-mortem examination at Boscombe Hospital.

Mrs. Smirke Says Jockey Left On Wedding Day

CHARLES SMIRKE, the jockey, was alleged by his wife at Kingston County Court recently to have deserted her on their wedding day last August.

Mrs. Girvan Eileen Caroline Smirke, cabaret artist known as Girvan Dundas, was sued by Bentalis, Ltd., of Kingston, for £4 17s. 6d., the cost of removing her furniture from Epsom to Paddington.

She denied liability on the ground that she was entitled to pledge her husband's credit.

"£8,000 A YEAR"

In the witness-box she stated: "He deserted me the same day we were married. There have been several reconciliations, but he left me finally last January and has not paid me any maintenance since then."

Her husband had told her that his income was about £8,000 a year. He received a retainer of £2,000 a year, in addition to 10 per cent, on all winning mounts, from the Aga Khan.

Mr. E. Evans, defending: Did you think you were pledging your husband's credit when you gave the order?—I thought he would pay for it.

At the present time proceedings are pending between you and your husband with regard to divorce?—Yes.

The reason you moved from Epsom was because you could not afford to keep up the house?—Yes.

CABARET ARTIST

Mrs. Smirke said that she was now a cabaret artist. She had to get work because she did not have any money. She earned £8 a week but her expenses were heavy.

"I have to dress well. I have to pay £2 a week for my flat and £1 a week for my maid. I have to hire a car because I have to go to business in evening dress and come home late. That costs about £2 a week. I have to buy evening dresses and that sort of thing."

Judgment was given for the company for the amount claimed with costs to be paid at the rate of 5s. a week.

These Cameras Can Lie—For 1s.

Scotland Yard is investigating a new form of "trickery-by-camera."

Many visitors to London have been victimised.

Certain street photographers take snaps of people against the background of a famous building, give a sealed envelope supposed to contain a print in exchange for 1s. and tell the victim that the packet must not be opened for two hours, or the picture will be spoiled.

When the envelope is opened, it contains only a plate with a blurred impression—or no impression at all.

British Policy In Far East

London.

Replying to a question in Parliament recently the Prime Minister reiterated the policy of the British Government in the Far East.

Sir J. Wardlaw-Milne asked the Prime Minister when he proposes to make a general statement of the policy of His Majesty's Government in the Far East, with opportunity for debate thereon, having regard in particular to the Japanese designs on the foreign settlements in Shanghai, Tientsin, and Kiangsu, the Japanese seizure or holding up of British merchant vessels, and the closing of the Yangtze and the Pearl River to foreign shipping?

The Prime Minister: The policy of His Majesty's Government on the situation in the Far East was fully set out in their note to the Japanese Government on 14th January. While I regret that it is not possible to afford time for a special Debate on the matters raised in my hon. Friend's question, I fully appreciate their importance, and opportunity could, no doubt, be taken to raise them during a general debate on foreign affairs. Meanwhile, if there is any point on which my hon. Friend desires to have further information, I shall endeavour to answer it as fully as possible.

CHINA RESTRICTS FOREIGN TRADE

The new regulations were evidence of the Government's determination to act vigorously to consolidate the nation's economic and financial situation.

The measures relating to exports, said the spokesman, were designed to promote freer and larger movement of commodities, which are to be handled to the greatest possible extent through normal channels of trade and finance.

The Government, the spokesman revealed, is taking further steps in this connection to facilitate the effective transport of commodities in China and to remove impediments.

With reference to the Finance Ministry's official announcement, the spokesman indicated that the rates to be announced by the Bank of China and the Bank of Communications in connection with the purchase of export bills will, until further be based on a selling rate for tele-organisation of our country's protection.

"This is a natural development, following the realisation that modern war is no longer what it used to be—a conflict confined to the armed forces of nations. In these days the civil population is right in the front line, and it becomes the duty of every citizen to help in the defence of the home front.

"It was for this reason," said the Prime Minister to his listeners, "that you were asked, all of you, to consider what you could do, and what part you could play in national service. Your answer now has been given, and within a few months you have added nearly 1,250,000 volun-

kinds.

"The spirit which has been shown by the national service volunteers has been beyond all praise. Many of you, I know, are giving up your amusements and leisure, evening

day's work, in order to fit and train yourself for effective service. It at

"Every day that passes sees a fresh advance towards perfecting our civil

Diplomatic Activity

WARSAW, July 2.—The British

Charge d'Affaires in Warsaw, Mr.

Norton, revealed the Foreign Ministry to-day and saw Colonel Beck's private secretary.

It is understood they discussed the latest developments in the international situation.

Rumours that a strongly-worded

note, demanding an explanation from the Danzig Senate for the present military moves, are still current.

According to press reports, further military transports arrived by water at the Schichau wharf in Danzig last night. These are said to consist of light tanks and gun under-carriages.

It is stated that these armaments are being taken to the fortifications at Bischofsberg and Hagelsberg, and that the approach to these two points are still barred to unauthorised persons.

It is understood that the Polish

Commissioner, M. Chodacki, is returning shortly to Danzig after reporting to Colonel Beck.

Allies Will Intervene

The Government organ "Gazeta

Polaka" carries messages from London and Paris informing the public that Britain and France will intervene

if Germany attempts a push.

The London correspondent underlines his information by emphasising that the British public back up this stand.

The Conservative newspaper

"Graz" published a report from London that the British Government has received information that such a push was intended now, or in the near future.

Warships To Move?

The newspaper, professing to have no knowledge that this is contemplated, comments that if the recent

German moves were simply a political manoeuvre, "Poland is grateful"

because they have succeeded in clarifying the situation and of "opening Germany's eyes."

"Graz" points out that Poland is calm, "but if Germany wants war,

we are not going to avoid it."

The independent organ "Ike" also publishes reports from London and Paris on the situation, including an unconfirmed rumour that the British and French fleets will visit Gdynia.

Significantly the entire press publishes the British Council of Labour's manifesto to Germany with approving comments.

Cardinals have been ordered to build air raid shelters, and to complete them within two months.

A later London message says that nothing is known in official quarters of the London rumour published in Warsaw that British and French warships were to visit Gdynia.—Reuter.

citement here whatever.—Reuter.

"Encirclement"

BERLIN, July 2.—Herr Rudolf

Hess, the Fuehrer's deputy, delivered a speech to-day at the regional congress at Kaiserlautern, where, without referring directly to the speeches of British statesmen made during the last week, made several fundamental declarations concerning Germany's position.

He stated that since Versailles, Germany had learnt what it meant to be slaves of strong States, and therefore it had been decided that Germany would never again be in that position.

Herr Hess went on to compare

Britain and Ireland and Germany and Czechoslovakia, and said that Germany felt herself more secure since Czechoslovakia had become a protectorate.

Referring to the alleged encirclement policy, Herr Hess said it would never succeed in bringing Germany and her ally Italy into subjection.

Dealing with the new German fortifications, he described them as the greatest the world had ever known and seen, and he added that no enemy could get through them.

This armoured frontier, he said,

was a broad zone of defence, sown thickly with an ingenious cluster of indestructible individual forts. At-

OBITUARY

Mr. Paul Lauder Late Of H.K.

News has been received of the death, at his residence in Ewhurst, Surrey, on Friday, of Mr. Paul Lauder, former General Manager of the Union Insurance Society of Canton, Ltd.

The late Mr. Lauder, who had rendered public service to the Colony in more than one capacity during his time here, first came out to the Far East towards the end of the last century. He was then with the China Traders Insurance Company (now known as the British Traders Insurance Co.) and on the subsequent amalgamation of the two companies he became a member of the staff of the Union Insurance Society of Canton, Ltd. Then came three years of service in Japan, a year in Shanghai and seven years in Calcutta, at which place he became most popular.

In 1910 Mr. Lauder came back to Hongkong to become chief assistant to the late Mr. C. Montague Ede, who was then General Manager, and on the latter's retirement in 1924, he was appointed to the post.

During his official duties, the late Mr. Lauder took a keen interest in the public welfare of the Colony, having been a member of the Legislative Council, a member of the Committee of the Hongkong General Chamber of Commerce, Vice-Chairman of the Alice Memorial and Associated Hospitals, member of the Council of St. Stephen's College, member of the Committee of the Young Men's Christian Association, of the Governing Body of the Matilda Hospital, and a member of the Civil Service Salaries Committee.

For his public service the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws was conferred on Mr. Lauder by the Hongkong University in 1934, while Sir William Hornel, then Vice-Chancellor, paid him the following tribute: "An unassuming man, a lover of an armchair, a book and a pipe, those who know him best realize most strongly that he took up public service reluctantly and from a sheer sense of duty."

Mr. Lauder retired in May, 1934 and was succeeded by Mr. A. W. Hughes.

He was about 60 years of age and leaves his widow and two daughters.

TOWN PLANNING

Composition of New Board Announced

The Gazette announces that His Excellency the Governor has been pleased to appoint a Town Planning Board whose functions will be:

- to draw up zone-schemes and other town plans as advised by the Housing Commission, such schemes and plans to be published for criticism and thereafter submitted to the Governor in Council for approval;
- to carry out such schemes as and when approved; and
- to undertake the census work advised by the Housing Commission.

The following gentlemen will constitute this Board:

The Chairman of the Urban Council (Chairman).

The Director of Public Works.

A senior officer of the Corps of Royal Engineers.

The Labour Officer.

Mr. Wilfred Herbert Owen.

Mr. Colin Brown Robertson.

The Hon. Mr. Leo D'Almeida Castro, Jr.

Mr. Alexander Somerville Maclellan.

The Hon. Mr. William Ngatse Thomas.

Mr. Joseph Mow-lun Wong.

Mr. Richard John Vernal, temporarily in place of Mr. W. H. Owen, who is away from the Colony.

The Secretary to the Board will be the Secretary to the Urban Council.

THE "TELEGRAPH" will send a Staff Photographer to all events of public interest. Requests should be addressed to the Pictorial Editor.

Nigeria Air Service

African Link May Be Continued

London, July 1.

The proposed agreement with Imperial Airways for continued operation of the air service connecting Nigeria and the Gold Coast with the main Empire route to South Africa at Khartoum is published in a White Paper issued to-day.

The existing agreement expires to-day and the proposed agreement provides for a continuance of the service by extending the existing agreement for a period of six months. This agreement will be subject to earlier termination within that period if the proposed corporation for which a provision is made in the British Overseas Airways Bill, now before Parliament, is established before the end of the year.

The service will be operated between Khartoum and Takoradi, the route having been extended to the latter place on May 2, and there will, as hitherto, be one flight a week in each direction.—British Wireless.

German Woman's Flight

Berlin, July 1.

After a solo flight of 21,250 miles, the well-known German air-woman, Frau Elli Rose-Meyer-Beinhorn, has returned from India to Berlin, where she left nine weeks ago in her Messerschmitt plane "Taifun."

The machine, which is equipped with a 270 h.p. engine, maintained an average speed of 160 miles per hour.

During the flight Frau Rose-Meyer-Beinhorn visited Budapest, Sofia, Baghdad, Basra, Alia Sabad, Jodhpur, Calcutta, Rangoon, Bombay, Karachi, Teheran, Rangoon and Bangkok.

She had a thrilling experience when the plane collided with a large bird, which was killed. The plane was slightly damaged. Another dangerous incident occurred when she was forced by a blinding monsoon rain to make an emergency landing on a small rice field amid jungles.

Although the field was only about 160 yards long she had to take off the same day as the machine threatened to sink in the swamped field.—Trans-Ocean.

New York, July 1.

The flying-boat Guba, which has just completed a survey flight over the Indian Ocean from Australia to Africa, has now arrived in the Virgin Islands, in the West Indies, having made a flight over the Atlantic from Dakar, West Africa.

Shipment Of Gold

A shipment of gold was carried by the Air France plane when she left Hongkong for France and Italy, intermediate ports on Saturday morning. There were also eight passengers, consisting of Mr. S. Halas, for Hanoi, Mr. A. Drummond, for Bangkok, two Chinese women, and four Chinese men.

Pepper Thrown At Woman

A dramatic struggle between a young Chinese woman and a miscreant in the stairs of a house in Hennessy Road, Wanchai, occurred shortly after noon yesterday.

Yee Wan-sui, the woman, was struck and suffered a fractured finger, while her eyes were inflamed, because of pepper being thrown on her face.

Yee was ascending the stairs to visit a friend when she noticed a Chinese man trailing her. Suddenly she was stopped from behind, and pepper was thrown on her face. Her handbag, containing about $25, was snatched from her.

Not satisfied with his loot, the man attempted to rob her of a bracelet, broken belt, Frakheim, and diamond ring which she was wearing. Yee shouted for help and the man ran down the three flights of stairs with Yee in pursuit. Detective Lee Sau-sing who happened to be in the vicinity chased and arrested the man in Street Road.

When searched, a bottle of acid was found on the arrested man's person.

CHINESE Y. M. C. A.

New Executive Secretary For Kowloon Branch

Mr. Lum K. Chu, associate General Secretary of the Chinese Y.M.C.A., has been appointed executive secretary of the Kowloon branch of the association, situated on Waterloo Road near Nathan Road. This action was taken by the Board of Directors in view of the rapid growth of Kowloon as a school and residence section.

The Kowloon Y.M.C.A. has eighty men in residence, every room in the building being occupied. The pleasant location and easy communication have made it a favourite living place for many men whose offices are on the Hongkong side.

The Directors see large possibilities for enlarging the social, physical, educational, and religious programme and Mr. Chu will give immediate attention to plans for this. It is expected that the association will develop into a large community centre with activities for boys, students, business, and professional men. Mr. Chu has had a long experience as a secretary in the Y.M.C.A. and is very well known in Hongkong.

INOCULATION FEE

Charge for Certificate Reduced by Government

According to a notification in the Gazette on Saturday, Government has decided to reduce the fee for an inoculation certificate from $2 to 50 cents. This fee is chargeable to all but Government servants.

Prior to the reduction of the fee, there were considerable objections on the grounds of hardship to the poor, who could barely afford the price of the inoculation certificate required for travel to Macao.

The charge for a vaccination certificate remains as before at $2, except where certificates are issued free under the provisions of the Vaccination Ordinance and except in the case of Government servants.

A charge of $10 is made for medical certificates in connexion with the fitness or unfitness of patients or others to perform their duty and for invaliding certificates, and $10 for certificates required by insurance companies.

VOLUNTEER PARADES

Need Not Be Inspected By a General

The Volunteer Ordinance is to be amended, according to draft Bill published in the Gazette.

Section 7 of the principal Ordinance provides that the principal Officer of the Corps shall be held by a general or field officer of His Majesty's Army.

Clause 2 of this Bill amends the provision by the substitution of the words "may be held" for the words "shall be held."

Section 16 (6) of the principal Ordinance provides that for the purposes of that section the year shall be deemed to commence on the 1st day of April. Clause 3 of this Bill changes that date to the 1st day of April in order to coincide with the training year coincide with the Government's financial year.

The Turkish Envoy at Vienna warns the Porte that unless diplomacy is resorted to by the Powers to moderate the hostility of the Serbian Regent, Austria will be compelled to go to war with Serbia.

25 YEARS AGO

The scores were—2-2, 6-1, 5-7, 4-6, 8-6. The winner now plays Wilding, the holder, in the challenge round.

Kent beat Gloucestershire at Gloucester by seven wickets. (Last year Gloucestershire won by six wickets.)

Mr. Asquith's expression of sympathy has created a deep impression in Austria, where it is singled out for its sincerity and friendliness.

The New Free Press states that it is an indication that every shadow of a strike is being dispelled.

Reuter's correspondent at Vienna states that the auto which accompanied the deceased Archduke, which was driven by a man, has been reported as saying that it would have been impossible for the Archduke to have left Vienna, as the plot was a most extensive one.

It provides, firstly for the establishment of a licensing system for all manufactures, imports and exports of war materials; secondly, for complete prohibition for all manufactures and shipments.

American Envoy Guest Of Honour

Chungking, July 2.

Mr. Nelson T. Johnson, U.S. Ambassador to China, was guest of honour at a reception given by the Sino-American Cultural Association in Chungking yesterday.

Dr. H. H. Kung, President of the Executive Yuan, expressed hearty welcome to the return of Mr. Johnson to China. He also praised his efforts in cementing friendly relations between China and the United States.

Replying Mr. Johnson paid a high tribute to China's progress in the development of communications, pointing out in particular the completion of the Yunnan-Burma highway.

Among others present at the reception were General Ho Ying-chin, Minister of War, General Chang Chun, Secretary-General of the Supreme National Defence Council, General Yao-tsu, Vice-Chief of General Staff, Dr. W. NEW BUS ROUTE

Kennedy Town Service Boon To Valley Residents

A boon to Happy Valley residents is the institution of a new bus route by the China Motor Bus Company, numbered 5A, which runs from Kennedy Town along the usual No. 5 route (Queen's Road) as far as Leighton Hill Road, when it turns into Wanching Road, and returns to Kennedy Town via the Monument and Gap Road.

This saves time and trouble for Wanching residents who previously had to await buses on the Praya.

With this new service another change is that Kennedy Road is now being used by the No. 2 (Taikee to Vehicular Ferry Pier) route. This service formerly ran along Queen's Road, Arsenal Street and Lockhart Road, turning into Hennessy Road via Percival Street.

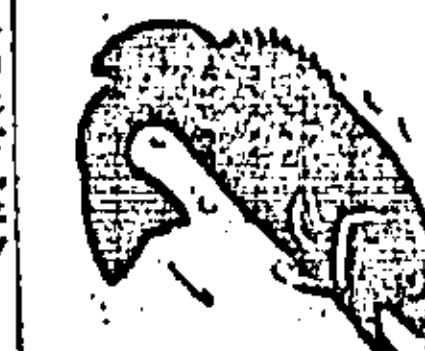

A further change is that the No. 1 (Happy Valley to Vehicular Ferry Pier) route, which formerly ran along Johnston Road into Wanchai Road, now runs along Hennessy Road as far as Fleming Road, where it turns into Wanchai Road.

One route still remains to be served. This is Taikee to Happy Valley. Residents in Taikee and Causeway Bay who wish to travel to Happy Valley have to change buses or trams.

Australian Ballot Reprieved

CANBERRA, Australia.

The Federal government has decided that Australians will continue to vote in the good old ballot booth way of the past instead of the American machine way. Investigation revealed that the cost of equipping about 10,000 of the 30,000 polling booths in Australia with American voting machines would be $12,000,000.

A.R.P. in Hongkong

THE HONGKONG Government has rejected plans for deep tunnels, steel shelters or dispersal of population during air raids. The layman who would pronounce upon these decisions is recklessly opinionated.
For the technical evidence on which judgment worth listening to can be based is not available to him.

In fact, it is available to no one except the authorities concerned.
The authorities are also keeping strictly to themselves all information concerning the effect of high-explosive and incendiaries on the densely populated tenement areas in Hongkong—information which must surely be known to them in the light of experiences in China—and we can only imagine what will happen in the Colony from our own experience in Canton and elsewhere. We do not know what defensive measures have been taken to ward off air attack, whether Hongkong is to rely exclusively on anti-aircraft guns for its protection, whether arrangements have been made for the rapid passage from Singapore or elsewhere of planes for our protection; whether the advice to "stay put" is a defeatist attitude or a genuine belief that the citizen is safer in his home.

Government's decision to spend an additional $1,500,000 on A.R.P. is welcome, and indicates that much more confidence may be felt than heretofore. But apart from this decision, there is little impressive evidence that A.R.P. is going forward at the rate required by the urgency of the dangers. There are, according to our observations, most serious shortages of vital equipment and trained man-power for some of the A.R.P. services. The precautions taken against the danger of fire on the authority of Home Office experts in England, it has been stated that one bomber can start anything from 80 to 160 fires—are stated to be most horrifyingly inadequate.

Then there is the problem of deep shelters. As a layman, we cannot profess to any extensive knowledge on the subject and can, in the final summing up, rely only on Government's announcement that tunnelling is unsuitable for the Colony, because of the time factor involved in dispersing civilians from home to tunnels. We understood, however, that Government indeed called for an estimate for a vehicular tunnel connecting the city of Victoria with Aberdeen through the Peak, and was informed that the cost would be in the prohibitive neighbourhood of $60,000,000. This estimate, we believe, is excessive. We have received estimates from two independent mining experts—one placed the maximum cost of such a tunnel at $6,000,000; another gave a detailed estimate of $1,000,000.

We know that, whatever the reason, Government has turned down the policy of deep shelters for the masses. Why, then, tunnels for certain sections of the community? We have no methods of checking up, since it is almost impossible to obtain information from official sources, but we have been informed from more than one source that tunnels are indeed being provided

COMFORT in a heat wave is the triumph of the body over the atmosphere in a battle of the temperatures.

The more we know of how the body controls its temperature the easier it is to keep well.

The process is very simple.
Food acts as fuel to the fire;
exercise increases the draught.
A delicate nerve centre in the brain keeps the level in health at exactly 98.4 deg. Fahrenheit, however fierce the fire's burning, however hot the surroundings. This it does by dilating the skin capillaries, bringing a large volume of blood into close contact with the colder air.

When cooling by radiation is not enough—the air may be kept too warm by unsuitable clothes
—the centre calls upon the sweat glands to help. The layer of moisture evaporates and cools
the skin, and thus the blood, just as a damp cloth cools a jug
and the milk inside it.

Strenuous exertion at once increases this to a pint an hour through active sweating—a loss that must be made good by drinking. Labouring in hot dry weather therefore calls for the consumption of three gallons of fluid in the day.

Now sweat contains a fair proportion of salt—clothes become stiff with it at the end of the day in the tropics. Unless this is replaced through the mouth the amount in the tissues and blood becomes deficient.

It is this salt deficiency more than anything else that is responsible for the vague but uncomfortable symptoms of hot weather—lassitude, irritability, loss of appetite, and muscular weakness. It leads also to fatigue of the sweat-glands and a weakened resistance to the heat.

It is therefore essential to take more salt in a heat wave.
A teaspoonful of salt to two pints of water—known to doctors and nurses as "half-normal

By a Medical Correspondent

saline"—is by itself perfectly palatable; in fruit drinks it is unnoticeable. Children in hot weather are apt to drink so much water as to cause diarrhoea, easily preventable by giving saline.

This measure alone, with a liberal ration of salt at meals, is enough to make a hot spell much less unpleasant.

The common idea that alcohol is especially useful in hot weather and climates has no medical basis. In fact, an excess strongly predisposes to heat stroke, as opposed to heatstroke. But a perfectly safe daily ration would be 1½ pints of beer—light lager is more suitable than the stronger ales —down to 3oz. of spirit, according to the proportion of alcohol.

Diet, except for the added salt, is much less important than drink. The dulled appetite makes it unnecessary to advise small, light meals. Proteins (meat and eggs) and fats only add fuel to the fires and should be restricted. Starches, sugar, salads and fruit should form the main bulk of the diet.

Warnings about that deadly trio, germs, flies and dust, are also hardly necessary. Because they abound in hot weather the risks of infection are much

Swimming and baths daily are essential if the skin is to be kept clear for its work of perspiration.

A prolonged tepid bath, just below blood-heat (about 80 deg.
F.) will do more to bring a feeling of coolness than any amount of icy douches and cold plunges, which only constrict the skin vessels and prevent the heat escaping.

Sleep during hot weather is naturally light and disturbed.
There is all the more reason, therefore, to have at least eight hours in bed at night, with an afternoon siesta if practicable.
The temptation to get up early should be indulged in only at the price of early-to-bed.

A hard mattress and a sheet will go a long way to making sleep easy, especially if preceded by a good walk and a cool bath.

The only diseases due to heat that are important are heatstroke and heat-exhaustion. The first is due to bad clothing and over-exertion in bad surroundings.

The symptoms of heat-stroke are sudden faintness and shock, with paleness, shallow breathing, clammy cold skin, and a weak fluttering pulse. Treatment is removal to a cool place, brandy by mouth and ammonia (smelling salts) to the nostrils.
Free cold douching should be avoided.

Heat-exhaustion is due to too little salt and fluids and can easily be avoided.

Old or ill people readily fall victims to any extreme of temperature and should be strictly guarded from exertion and over-heating, staying in a cool, dark, airy room.

Once the body's needs are understood, therefore, only common sense is required.

If it gets too hot even for that, then the time has come to follow the Rev. Sydney Smith's example, who found the heat so dreadful that there was nothing left for it but to take off his flesh and sit in his bones.

Eden Says War Not Inevitable

But Stafford Cripps Not So Optimistic

London, July 1. Confidence that there would be no war if Britain's foreign policy was understood abroad, was expressed in a speech by Mr. Anthony Eden at Ealing to-night.

He said: "The outlook for the immediate future is admittedly grave, even dangerous. It is not yet desperate. I for one do not hold the view that war is inevitable. I am convinced that if the true firmness of will and purpose of Britain can at once be understood abroad, there will be no war. The road of the British people to-day is neither one of timidity nor defeat; it is sober and resolute and unshakably determined. The era of unchecked aggression is at an end. In terms of unmistakable clarity, Viscount Halifax has made plain the position of the British people of whom every section endorses and applauds his warning. Our word has been given. There can not be, nor will there be any turning back."

"The British people are essentially a people who love peace, but they have at length learned the grim truth. Faced with the methods of force, recently employed methods which are once again threatened, a nation that would enjoy peace can only hope to do so by showing that it is ready to sacrifice the very thing it most desires to keep. The British people are determined henceforth that there shall be neither hesitation before threats nor concession to force."—Reuter Special.

Liberal Support

London, July 1. "If anyone forces war upon Britain or upon some other country that independence we are pledged to defend, there will be no defeatists here," declared Sir Archibald Sinclair, leader of the Liberal Party, in a Liberal demonstration near Bedford. "Our resources are formidable, our resources are formidable, and an enemy would find that we were resolved to fight rather than submit to brutality. Much had peace more difficult to achieve, therefore, co-operation with Russia was all the more necessary. Nor would the disbelief of foreign nations in our firmness of purpose be removed so long as Mr. Chamberlain was head of the Government."

Sir Archibald urged the reconstruction of Government with Mr. Winston Churchill and Mr. Anthony Eden in the Inner Council.—Reuter.

World War May Break Out Within Three Months

London, July 1. "We will not tolerate domination by others, the loss of our liberties or dictation in our affairs; and if they are attempted we are ready now, as a united nation, to defend ourselves and to gather all our allies and resources," declared Sir Stafford Cripps speaking at the Forest of Dean. "Sir Stafford said no one doubts at this moment that there is the gravest danger of a world war breaking out within the next three months, but, however terrible the prospect, the great majority of the people are prepared to make any sacrifice for these things they hold dear and believe are worth-while in this world."—Reuter.

Sir John Simon

"The general political situation is serious, and even grave, but I have no new declaration to make," said Sir John Simon, Chancellor of the Exchequer, speaking at Sheffield. "There is no doubt to-day where Britain stands," he said. "Lord Halifax in his declaration spoke not only for the British Government but also for the British people and for a large part of the world outside the British Empire, but firm and clear. There is no doubt to-day where Britain stands. "I think the British nation on these great issues has never been more united. The premises never has been more clearly understood by all who seek to understand it aright."—Reuter Special.

Singapore Talk

Japanese Concern Over Naval Conference

Tokyo, July 2. A Paris dispatch to the Japan Times says that as the result of the recent defence conference at Singapore, the British and French authorities have reached the conclusion that a war with Japan should be avoided at any cost since it would compel the two nations to give up totally their interests in the Far East.

Information in Paris says that the naval authorities of the two Powers foresee difficulties in maintaining Hongkong in case of a war against Japan.

The dispatch claims that the two Powers have agreed to use Singapore as their joint base of operations in the Far East. Anticipating that the United States would co-operate with Great Britain and France in case of a war in the Pacific, the dispatch alleges, the British authorities tried to persuade Washington to participate in the Singapore pact. The American authorities, however, refused to take part.—Domei.

TIENTSIN: POSITION GRAVER: TWO-YEAR BLOCKADE THREAT

Japanese Losses

Chungking, July 1. The Chinese Military Headquarters announced to-day that the Japanese killed during 287 engagements on the Shansi, Hunan, Hupoh, Kiangsi, Hsiao, Kwangtung, Chekiang, Kiangsu, Anhwei, Shantung, west Suiyuan, Chahar, and Hopei fronts from June 16 to 30 totalled 20,507. The number of Japanese taken prisoner during the period was 100. The war booty included 72 horses, 1,024 rifles, 299 machine-guns, four artillery pieces and 81,838 rounds of ammunition. Forty-four Japanese armoured cars were damaged while 11 war vessels sunk.—Central News.

Reuter adds that Chungking military authorities also claim that in the second half of June, 14 kilometres of rails and 88 kilometres of motor-roads were destroyed behind Japanese lines by guerrillas.

New Aerial Activity In China Japanese Losses

Chungking, July 2. A Chinese communique says that 60 Japanese planes were shot down or destroyed during the first five months of the year, with 96 Japanese pilots killed or captured.

A communique issued by the Chinese Air Force Headquarters said that the number did not include Japanese planes accidentally damaged. It said that of the planes destroyed 29 were heavy bombers, five pursuit planes, two scout planes, and 26 unclassified machines.

Twenty-four Japanese planes were brought down and five damaged in dog fights, 21 by anti-aircraft guns and ten were destroyed by the Chinese Army. Three Japanese planes made forced landings. Five Japanese pilots were made prisoners.

The communique adds that February was the most profitable month, when 22 Japanese planes were shot down and 25 pilots killed.—United Press.

Chinese Air Raid

Shanghai, July 2. Aerial attacks were made on the Japanese occupied area by forty-eight Chinese planes on June 30, a military report discloses.

During the raid, most of the Japanese defence works, and military establishments south of Sunkai, on the Canton-Hankow railway and south of Tsungta were damaged. The airfield in Tsingtao, south of Tsungta, was destroyed.

The aerodromes in Tinho and on the White Cloud Mountain, in the north-eastern suburb of Canton, were bombed by 21 Chinese planes, resulting in heavy losses. No Japanese planes took the air, but anti-aircraft guns were fired.

Two squadrons of 27 planes visited Pakkai where a Japanese hangar and two barracks were demolished. The same squadron released bombs on Sanchi Island, south of Chungking causing damage to the aerodrome and barracks there.—Wah Kiu Yat Po.

Szechuan Attack

Chungking, July 1. At one o'clock yesterday afternoon the air raid alarm was sounded here, whereupon thousands of persons immediately took cover in the dugouts in splendid order, the streets being emptied almost immediately. At 2 p.m. the all clear signal was sounded without any enemy planes having arrived. It was learned later that more than 40 Japanese planes bombed Lingshan, a city near Wanshan, the planes arriving in three separate formations. The damage done has not yet been revealed.

Two cities in that part of Szechuan, the towns of Wufu and Fungshien, were bombed by 27 Japanese planes on Thursday.—Trans-Ocean.

TATUNG HOSPITAL

Eviction Period Extended After Visit of Bishop

Peiping, July 2. Bishop Norris has returned from Tatung (Shansi) after a brief visit there in connection with an investigation into the Japanese military demand asking the British Anglican Mission to vacate its hospital in the suburbs of Tatung.

It is understood that the Japanese military notice to the Anglican Mission Hospital to quit the premises within one week has been extended to an indefinite period, but the Japanese are still pressing for the property to be signed over to them.—Reuter.

An earlier report said the British property is worth $400,000, but the Japanese are offering $70,000.

British Journalist Is Stripped

To-morrow, when the Anglo-Japanese negotiations to settle the Tientsin conflict are scheduled to begin in Tokyo, an "enlightenment campaign" will be started in the Japanese capital when Japanese politicians and journalists will address mass meetings on Anglo-Japanese relations.

The Hochi Shimbun comments that "the great successes of Japan in the last two years will be imperilled if the Japanese diplomacy makes even the least mistake in the negotiations."

Guerrillas raided the Chinese city in Tientsin on Friday, attacking the Japanese garrison troops and Police. The pro-Japanese police chief was killed and ten policemen were wounded.

The Norwegian steamer Dahpu, under charter to Jardines, carrying cattle and vegetables which the British Consul at Tientsin recommended, has sailed for Tientsin from Shanghai.

A new incident has occurred at Tientsin, a young Briton being stripped and struck in the face by a Japanese officer.

Shimonoseki, July 2. Mr. Tanaka said here that America and even France, who was to make the side of Britain, understood with sympathy the Japanese measures in Tientsin and showed an attitude of co-operation toward Japan, assertedly recognizing that Britain was in the wrong.

The British residents in Tientsin, anticipating exacerbation of the local situation prior to the isolation, petitioned their home Government to hand over the terrorist criminals to the Japanese.

He alleged that George Smith, a Briton, who committed violence, availing himself of extrajurisdictionality, was deported by the British authorities after he was released from Japanese custody.

"The present issue in Tientsin is only a minor one. The essential issue is for Britain to change her past policy of assisting the Chiang Kai-shek regime and antagonizing Japan. Otherwise the isolation will be continued for one year or two years hence," Consul Tanaka added.—Domei.

"Enlightenment Campaign"

Tokyo, July 2. Next Tuesday, when the Anglo-Japanese negotiations to settle the Tientsin conflict are scheduled to begin, an "enlightenment campaign" will be started in the Japanese capital when well-known members of the Japanese Parliament, politicians and journalists will address mass meetings on "Anglo-Japanese relations."

The great nationalist newspaper Hochi Shimbun which is one of the organizers of this campaign, declared on Saturday in a proclamation that the great successes of Japan in the last two years will be imperilled if the Japanese diplomacy makes even the least mistake in the forthcoming Anglo-Japanese negotiations. "The whole Japanese people," it writes, "must be informed of Japan's relations with England so that the British should find themselves facing a united political front of the Japanese people."

In a speech delivered at Osaka, the Japanese Colonial Minister, General Koiso, expressed satisfaction at the fact that the anti-Japanese British Ambassador in China, Sir Archibald Clark Kerr, would not take part in the negotiations.—Trans-Ocean.

Herbert In Japan

Tokyo, July 2. Major Herbert, British Superintendent Consul at Tientsin, who arrived at Yokohama from Peking aboard H.M.S. Decatur to participate in the forthcoming Anglo-Japanese negotiations at the Tientsin Concession issue at 9 a.m., motored to the villa of Sir Robert Craigie, the British Ambassador, at Hayama, seaside resort near Yokohama.

Upon arriving at Yokohama, the British Consul was met by many high British officials including Captain D. N. C. Tufnell, Naval Attaché, Commander Naval Air Station, Assistant Naval Attaché, and Mr. T. E. Bromley, British Consul at Yokohama.—Domei.

British Consul Optimistic

Hayama, July 2. Optimism was voiced by Major G. A. Herbert with regard to the prospect of the Anglo-Japanese negotiations for a settlement of the Tientsin Concession issue. In an exclusive interview at the British Ambassador's villa at Hayama, Consul Herbert said that he would be the only representative of the British authorities in Tientsin at the forthcoming Tokyo conversations. He expressed the hope that a complete settlement of the Tientsin issue would be reached as the result of the Tokyo parity.

Declining to answer a question regarding the delivery of the Chinese terrorist criminals held in custody in Tientsin, Consul Herbert added that Sir Archibald Clark Kerr, the British Ambassador to China, was not directly connected with the present issue.

Ambassador Craigie at his villa to-day said that the Tokyo parity would in principle deal with the Tientsin issue but that it might possibly touch on the basic ground of the Far Eastern issue. Mr. Sotomatsu Katoh, newly-appointed Japanese Minister-at-Large in China, and Mr. Hirozo Tanaka, Japanese Consul at Tientsin, followed the arrival here from Tientsin this morning, were received by Foreign Minister Arima at the latter's official residence this afternoon.—Domei.

Hitler Shelves Danzig Coup

Paris, July 2. It has been authoritatively stated that as a result of the French and British ultimatums, Hitler has temporarily shelved the Danzig coup.

This was revealed after the French Premier had conferred with the French Ambassador to Berlin who had transmitted a message to the Foreign Office regarding the gravity of the situation, which coincided with British secret reports that Hitler has planned to move on Danzig on Saturday.

Upon receipt of this report Lord Halifax reiterated the British determination to fight if the Poles decided to march.

However, it is considered here to be almost certain that the coup will be carried out some time.

It is also authoritatively stated that the British determination to fight if the Poles decided to march in order to have a military alliance with the Soviet.—United Press.

Trade In Japan Favourable Balance For Six Months

Tokyo, July 2. For the first time in the past quarter-century since the World War, Japan's foreign trade during the first half of the year has ended in a favourable balance this year, according to the Finance Ministry.

The excess of exports over imports during the first six months has amounted to Yen 25,000,000, as compared with an excess of imports over exports valued at Yen 105,000,000 for the same period of 1938. Imports from January to June totalled Yen 1,500,211,000, an increase of seven per cent or Yen 107,000,000 over the corresponding period of last year, while exports in the past six months aggregated Yen 1,525,211,000, an increase of 25 per cent or Yen 320,000,000 over the same period of last year.

Japan's exports to third countries have been increasing steadily since January, the figures for the different months being Yen 91,680,000 in January, Yen 105,010,000 for February, Yen 130,670,000 for March, Yen 113,572,000 for April, and Yen 147,007,000 for May.

Imports from the "Yen Bloc" countries from January to May totalled Yen 267,000,000 and exports to them Yen 500,000,000 with the favourable balance amounting to Yen 233,000,000, while imports from third Powers from January to May totalled Yen 925,000,000 and exports to them Yen 507,000,000 with the adverse balance reaching Yen 320,000,000.—Domei.

NEW NANKING ARMY

Organisation Of Navy Under Preparation

Tokyo, July 2. The plan for organisation of a new Chinese Army by the new regime is well under way, according to the Nanking correspondent of the Asahi Shimbun.

The Pacification Army of the Reformed Government at Nanking has been increased to 20,000 men. New headquarters for the Pacification forces have been established at Hanchow, Haichow, Wuhsing, Changchow, Yangchow and Pengpu.

Preparations are also under way for the organisation of a Navy under the Reformed Government. Five institutes to train river patrol were opened in January and 300 Chinese are undergoing training. Upon graduation they will patrol the Yangtze and Central China.

About 320 Chinese youths between the ages of 18 and 25 are receiving training in the new Chinese Military Academy which was established by the Reformed Government in Nanking. Twenty Japanese and Chinese instructors are attached to the Academy.—Domei.

BRITISH OPEN GOLF CHAMPIONSHIP STARTS TO-DAY

ARGENTINE AND AMERICA HEADS FOREIGN ATTACK

Nearly All British Pros Are In The Tournament

(By H. L. Percy, United Press Staff Correspondent)

St. Andrews, Scotland, July 2.

The United States and Argentina head the foreign attack on the 79th British open golf championship starting here to-morrow, July 3.

Argentina is represented by a team of six, captained by tiny, smiling Jose Jurado. The United States' entry is also six, including such renowned names as Gene Sarazen, Lawson Little, Sam Snead and Tommy Armour.

At time of writing, however, only Little is a known starter among the Americans. It is believed that the others will not be coming over.

Another South American entry is Emilio Serra, an Argentine by birth, but entered from Uruguay, where he is open champion. Serra did particularly well in the recent Yorkshire Evening News tournament, and is regarded as one of the "menaces" for the open.

Martin Pose, of Huzalingo, Argentina, is the most formidable of the Argentine squad. He came over with one idea only—to win the British open—and his showing in the Yorkshire tournament, in which he reached the semi-final, indicates that he will be a serious challenger. His recent success in the French Open also strengthens his claims.

AMERICAN CHALLENGE

Snead—if he comes—and Little are ranked at the head of the United States' challenge. But there is a possibility of a repetition of the 1931 open at Carnoustie when Tommy Armour won by one stroke from Jose Jurado.

On that occasion, it will be recalled, Jurado needed a four and a five for the last two holes to beat Armour. He was not told of the position, and finished with a six and a five. To this day they argue whether the little Argentine should have been told what he needed.

Cotton Favourite For Championship

St. Andrews, July 1.

Henry Cotton is favourite for the British Open Golf Championship. The odds quoted against him are 5-1.

Odds on Bobby Locke (South Africa) are 6-1, and those on Lawson Little and Johnny Bulla are 8-1.—United Press.

Reginald Whitcombe is defending the title he won then, but he is not particularly fancied for the double event.

Favourite is, as usual, Henry Cotton, claimed here as the best golfer in the world. Then there is Bobby Locke, the South African champion, who would rank close to Cotton in a world's best ten, and, among the 54 amateurs, the Irish boy wonder, James Bruen. Union Brewers Fully Extended By Nam Hwa

POTENTIAL CHAMPIONS CONCEDE EARLY LEAD BUT EVENTUALLY WIN

(By "Bingle")

Although one of the week-end's tussles was a one-sided affair, yesterday's gigantic struggle between the Union Brewers and South China Athletic Association had the fans at Caroline Hill on their feet for seven long innings. What should have been a push-over for Beer Baron Bennett's organization proved a startling surprise when they barely nosed out Nam Hwa, 9-8.

In about the most interesting game this season, Union Brewers nosed out the supposedly weak South China squad, 9-8, the winning run coming in the sixth inning after a ding-dong battle.

The Bennettmen counted for a run in each of the first three frames, while Nam Hwa chalked up four markers in the first and another in the next, and two more in the fourth. Leading 7-3 at the end of the fourth, South China allowed the Brewers to knot the count on three hits and two batters, but jumped one ahead in their turn at bat.

Starting hurler for the Brewers was Madern Arcull, who was yanked in the fourth for Dave Leonard, who pitched one and a third innings. Madern came back on the mound in the sixth, but Dave must be chalked up as the winning pitcher.

Frank Chang, Nam Hwa's slaban, was not as erratic, and fanned five and only issued five walks. He seemed to have plenty of reserve yesterday, but his fielders didn't give him the proper backing. Five runs were earned off Chang, while the five UB errors brought in only three earned Nam Hwa runs.

GROUND RULES
There were a few squabbles about ground rules, and it's a wonder that they aren't understood now that they have been so plentifully applied. A batted ball that rolls into the bank at rightfield entitles the runner to two bases; and a batted ball that lands on the rightfield bank on a fly permits the runner a three-bagger. It's quite as simple as that, and it would be a pity to let it go.

Leftfield Wong, in trying for a foul fly out in the cow pastures, hurt his right wrist, but stayed in the game, to the accompaniment of loud huzzas, while third sacker George Wu was limping throughout the game from an accident that happened last Sunday.

Only one double was pulled off: Souza to Terry Leonard who caught backstop Ho flatfooted off first on Wang's short fly, in the sixth.

smart bingle to rightfield, Babe was brought a pair of spikes by Raymond Chang. The umpire called Babe "out" because, he said, there were two men on one base, and that Chang assisted China by touching him. No play was made on the runner at the time, as he was about to put on his shoes then, and the fielding side knew it, too. This is surely one on the books.

Rambling Recs Outplayed By Chinese B.C.

Chinese Baseballers were a live-alarm fire on Saturday when they gave Club de Recreo the works in the track-meet score of 15-2. With many a bobble throughout the tilt, Chung Hwa had all the breaks for a change, while the Rambling Recs were truly a disorganized outfit. I have never before seen the Portuguese dish up so ragged a brand of ball.

Neither side tallied in the first frame. Chung Hwa counted for the first marker in the next when Choy dumped one for Chang to cross the plate. Recreo equalized when "Old Marse" Henry Barros stole home, believe it or not, Robert Ripley!

Chung Hwa scored again in the next when Ching sacrificed to bring in Wu, and Recreo knotted the score when Figueroa tallied on Alvez's sacrifice. It looked like anybody's ball game at this stage.

CHINESE RALLY
But, in the fourth canto, the Ramblers brought in Charlie Figueroa from leftfield to take over the backstop duties of Al Avares, who had thrown out his arm, and rookie Jimmy Remedios came into the game. A determined rally was made by the Chinese of four runs on three hits, a miscue, two walks and two passed balls. Three of the tallies came in after there were two away, too.

From then on, the Chinese had everything their own way, and their pliffing of the cushions had the Chinese coasting gleefully on their feet and bowling for the Ramblers' scalps. If the Portuguese catchers hadn't their protectors buckled on, they'd have been stolen too.

Wally Ching came on the slab in the fourth, replacing Earl Wong, and held the Recreomens scoreless and was only nicked for two safeties with his easy offerings.

Two more rallies by the Chinese in the sixth and seventh brought them nine runs on only five hits, but four errors.

In the sixth stanza, Babe Chinn substituted for Earl Wong and came up with the plate minus his shoes. Chasing Wally Ching in with a

As this is baseball's centenary, celebrated on June 12 in the United States, I have a collection of interesting data regarding rule changes since 1839, collected at random.

If a few of Gen. Abner Doubleday's buddies of a century ago were to take refuge from the long sleep to take part in another game of baseball, they would go about it in a manner much like our modern players. At least, you would recognize their activities as a game of ball.

Baseball is fortunate in that it has undergone few basic changes over the hundred years since it was first played at Cooperstown, N.Y. There have been rule changes, of course, but the fundamentals of the game have been unaltered.

In 1850 no player receiving money for his services was allowed to play. . . . P. S.: the rule didn't last long. . . . The first rule that a player was out at first base if the first baseman got the ball before he reached that station has been in the books—unchanged—since 1843.

The nine-inning game came into vogue in 1857 with the formation of the first baseball association, and the compilation of the first rule book by Henry Chadwick.

TOUCHING BASES
In 1858, the base-runner was not required to touch each base. In 1864, the rule insisting he touch all bases was instituted.

The same year, Chadwick instituted the first set of scoring rules and in 1869 the players began worrying about their batting averages.

It was not until 1880 that the stolen base arrived.—Robert Addy, of

CHAMPION DEFEATS W. T. WANG

Exhibition Tennis At Chinese R.C.

(By "Abe")

Conditions were indeed very trying yesterday when the exhibition tennis programme arranged by the South China Athletic Association in aid of charity was played on the Chinese R.C. courts at Causeway Bay. The day was hot and the blistering sun made the spectators uncomfortable enough, let alone the players.

Most interesting match of the series, of course, was the meeting of Tsui Wai-pul, the local singles champion, and Wang Wen-ting, a former champion of Shanghai, who helped South China A.A. to beat the Chinese R.C. in the "A" Division of the Tennis League last week. It was a splendid match and produced the finest singles tennis seen in Hongkong for a long time. The rallies, good though they were, would have been even better had the conditions not been so trying; for after the opening set, both Tsui and Wang seemed tired.

However, when both went all out as they frequently did, play reached a very high standard indeed. The players were well-matched and both made full use of the drop-shot which was the most potent weapon of attack yesterday, as only to be expected on such a day when neither was inclined to do any unnecessary running.

CHAMPION EXTENDED
Tsui finally won but as the scores, 6-3, 6-1, 6-3, indicate, he had to go all out in order to win. Wang revealed some fine touches and a reliable forehand, though his service and his ground strokes on the backhand appeared a trifle weak. But—little fault could be found with his courtcraft or his play at the net.

The local champion, I understand, has not had much singles practice since the Hongkong C.C. championships concluded, but he gave a typical display yesterday, making some lovely shots in the course of the three sets. He was leading 5-3 in the opening set, but was unable to clinch the issue and Wang drew level at 6-6 and finally won in the fourteenth game.

In the second set, Tsui's game tightened considerably and he won it with the loss of only one game. After a short rest, Wang started off the third set in great style and led 3-1, only to see Tsui reel off the next five games for the set.

Wang was to have partnered H. D. Rumjahn in a doubles match against the Tsui brothers, but he developed cramp after his singles against Tsui Wai-pul and this necessitated a change in the programme. Rumjahn then partnered Tsui Wai-pul against Tsui Wai-pul and Szeto Bick.

The following were the scores of the matches played:

SEVEN TIES PLAYED IN THIRD ROUND OF OPEN RINKS TOURNEY

No Real Upsets But Some Interesting Results

(By "Abe")

Several splendid matches were played yesterday in the third round of the Open Rinks Bowls Championship, and while there were no real upsets there were some interesting results.

For instance, the rink skipped by U. M. Omar (W. J. Penny, A. A. Ruzack, A. M. Omar and U. M. Omar), regarded as one of the strongest in the competition, were beaten by the Club de Recreo four to two. J. J. Basto after an extra hand on the Civil Service C.C. green by 2-1. An extra hand was required to decide the issue.

A good recovery on the part of the Recreo players enabled them to enter the quarter-finals. At one stage of the game, Omar's men were leading 19-7 but they fell to pieces in the latter stages of the game when, helped by a five, their opponents wiped off the deficit. The score was levelled at 21-21 when the final end was completed, and in the extra end Basto scored a brace.

The Indian R.C. rink of D. M. Khan, M. Y. Adul, A. R. Dallal and A. K. Minu, who won five bottles of whiskey in the previous round by scoring an eight and a seven, did not play so well yesterday on the Police R.C. green against the Talkoo, four to two. W. Melrose, M. D. Munro and J. C. Chalmers, who won by 20-17.

It was ding-dong fight until the closing stages. Leading 8-2 after the sixth end, Chalmers led 13-7 at the end of the eighth, but then Minu scored a four, three and two in that order to lead 16-13 by the end of the 10th. It was now Chalmers' turn and he piled on a single, three and four to regain the lead at 21-10, but then after conceding a single on the 20th he finished up with a five.

NARROW SHAVE

J. W. Leonard, K. M. Omar, A. E. Coates and B. W. Bradbury, of the Craggengower C.C., who had a narrow escape from defeat in the previous round against Eddie Souza's rink, only got through yesterday by the skin of their teeth against M. E. Purvis, W. J. Burling, W. R. Killey and M. N. Rinkusen, of the Civil Service C.C., winning by 10-16.

As a matter of fact when the last head was played they were a shot in arrears, but two gave them victory by a single shot.

On the Craggengower C.C. green, J. Forrest, J. Hendridge, G. Perkins and J. Orem, of the Police R.C., eliminated L. Lammer, G. E. Stephens, G. Duncan and W. Gill by 23-20 after an exciting match. The scores were very even throughout, especially in the first ten heads, at which stage the score was 7-7. By the 13th, Orem was leading 14-8, but in the next three heads Gill had a three, four and one to lead 16-14.

However, the Police players registered a five, one and three to regain the lead at 23-16, and though Gill had a single and a three in the last two heads, he was still three shots behind at the conclusion of the match.

Scoring on 13 heads against their opponents' eight, another Police R.C. rink, F. Channing, R. Ellis, W. Mair and J. C. S. Fender, got through to the quarter-finals at the expense of J. S. Howell, R. P. Shaw, N. J.

Young Wai-bun 6-4, 6-4.
H. D. Rumjahn and Tsui Yun-pul beat Tsui Wai-pul and Szeto Bick 6-4, 7-5.

OPEN PAIRS TOURNEY

Several matches are down for decision to-day in the third round of the Open Pairs. The following is the programme:

AT CIVIL SERVICE C.C.

E. Zimmerman and N. P. Karanjia v. R. P. Phillips and G. E. F. Thomson.
W. Melrose and J. C. Chalmers v. A. E. F. Castro and V. Atienza.

CRICKET TOURISTS COME INTO THEIR OWN

Headley, Stollmeyer, And Sealey Hit 100's at Lord's

By C. W. Packford

Lord's: West Indies 491 for 3; Middlesex to bat. The Middlesex bowlers passed through a day of toiling, ineffective effort. A new happy West Indies team, in their element in brilliant sunshine and on a wicket that George Headley for one would love to carry around with him, played havoc with spin and speed to such an extent that, in the end, one marvelled if runs did not come from every ball.

During the day there were two partnerships of over 200, a double individual century; two other three-figure innings and nearly 500 runs collected for the loss of only three wickets.

All types of bowling were treated almost contemptuously. It was amazing batting altogether for in six hours play the only wickets that fell went at mid-day; then at 3.45, and finally at 6.20, and during the whole time, apart from the two catches that were accepted, there was not a single chance offered to encourage a field that was literally run off its legs long before the end.

We were certainly not prepared early on for this riotous run, for although Headley and the younger Stollmeyer opened scoring at the rate of a little more than a run a minute, the progress was merely sedate or orthodox.

STOLLMAYER AMAZES What followed was a revelation. Jeffrey Stollmeyer and George Headley settled down to a superb stroke play. Headley knew of old, English bowlers have suffered at his hands on many an occasion in the past, but the 18-year-old Stollmeyer amazed everyone.

A tall, little athlete, he gets tremendous power into his strokes by perfect following-through and the late application of the wrist. His batting was of a high order, his off-side play, in particular, being delightful.

This combination of youth and majestic experience increased the score by 200 in ten minutes under the three hours, and it came as a genuine surprise when, 12 runs later, the boy batsman was dismissed for obstruction of Jim Smith. He had played a really classic innings that included 11 boundaries.

John Sealey joined Headley, who was now 93, to add to the trials of the bowlers. Directly after his arrival Headley reached three figures for the third time this season, and, with Sealey in the same confident mood, as his more famous partner, the West Indies arrived at the 300 mark in a little less than four hours.

Badly as the Middlesex bowling had been treated up to this point, worse was to follow. Headley hit his third 50 in thirty-eight minutes, and Sealey, once hitting Gray up to the wicket, obtained his first half-century at about the same time.

A MIDDLESEX MAZE By this time the Middlesex bowling was in a rare tangle. Enthusiastic as always, Jim Smith had bowled until he could hardly make up to the wicket; Gray and Edrich, the other men of speed, had lost their length if not their determination, and the spinning brigade were in a maze as to how to attack.

Three or four boundaries were now coming every over; Sealey, after batting for only two hours, became the third scorer of three figures, and then, ten minutes from the end, Headley made his first mistake, spooning a ball to mid-on.

We had seen Headley in his most arrogant mood for hours, during which he obtained exactly a century of runs with boundary

Two Britons Invited To Run At Athens

Invitations are being sent to the first three in the marathon race of the 1938 European Championships, the winner of the British marathon, and the best non-Greek winner of the Balkan Games marathon of 1938.—Reuter.

Changes Made In Baseball Rules

A year before that the pitcher was compelled to face the batter before delivering the ball.

In 1885 one surface of the bat could be flat.

In 1894 the sacrifice bunt first gained recognition.

It was not until 1891 that the substitution of a player at any time during the game was recognised in league play.

In 1894, bunts rolling foul were declared strikes.

The balk rule, as we know it, came into effect in 1899.

FOUL STRIKE RULE The foul strike rule came into effect. The same year the catcher was compelled to remain continuously under the bat.

In 1903, the foul strike rule, originally proposed by the American League, was adopted by the American.

Shin guards, as part of the catcher's equipment, were first permitted in 1908 when introduced by Robert Drenahan.

The earned run averages came into baseball in 1917.

It was not until 1920 that a batsman was given credit for a home run when he knocked a ball out of the park in the last-inning and followed the winning run over home plate.

That was the year when runs-batted-in came into the baseball box scores. For years William E. Hannan, baseball writer, had written this statistic into his story each day.

The home-run distance in enclosed parks was increased from 235 feet to 250 feet in 1925.

And the newest rules which were given publicity last winter rule that a player is not to be given credit for a run-batted-in when he hits into a double play but that a fly ball scoring a man is to be declared a sacrifice and no time at bat.

Which, takes up about all the various playing, league and scoring innovations from time to time. Except for the fact that the first double-header was recognised in 1886, in Philadelphia.

Home Motor Race Won By Mays

London, July 1.

Raymond Mays, driving an E.R.A., won the Crystal Palace Cup to-day over 22 miles at an average speed of 50.93 miles an hour. H. Hadley, driving an Austin was second with an average of 50.54, and Prince Bira, of Siam, third with 55.82 mph.—Reuter.

OUTBOARD HONOURS

Montauk, N.Y., June 25. Gar Wood, Jr., added another title to his imposing list of outboard honours when he captured the national intercollegiate championship to-day on Montauk Lake.

Wood, driving under the colours of the Tulane, tallied 3,325 points in two days of college racing to become the 1939 high point scorer and dethrone Arthur Wulfschlaeger.—United Press.

BRITISH "OPEN" GOLF COMMENCES TO-DAY

have ever won the open, namely John Ball and Harry Hilton back in the nineties and Bobby Jones.

THE FAVOURITES Although betting odds are not yet available, it is likely that the favourites will be Cotton, Sned, Locke, Little, Pose, and Serra, in that order.

The United States' entries are: Tommy Armour, of Medina; Lawson Little, of Bretton Woods; Sam Snead, of White Sulphur Springs; Gene Sarazen; John Bulla, of Chicago; and George Low, Jr., of Jenkintown.

There are also two Anglo-American amateurs, Robert Sweeney and Eric Chambers. The Argentine entries are: Jose Jurado, Aurelio Costanon, Juan Martinez, Jockey club; Martin Pose, Huazlingo; Marcos Churio, Rosendo and Enrique Bertolino.

The tournament is stroke play throughout. Two 18-hole qualifying rounds are played Monday and Tuesday, with the field split over two courses, the Old and the New, which run side-by-side. Those playing the old course Monday, play the new course Tuesday, and vice versa.

A maximum of 130 qualify for the championship proper. If there are any ties for the 130th place they do not qualify, and the number of qualifiers is reduced accordingly.

CHAMPIONSHIP PROPER The championship proper consists of four rounds of 18 holes. Only the aggregate score for these 72 holes counts; the scores in the qualifying rounds being washed out.

All four are played on the famous, testing old course. There will be one round Wednesday, and another Thursday, for which a maximum of 44 will play in the two final rounds Friday. As before, if there are any ties for the 44th place they do not qualify, and the number of qualifiers is reduced accordingly.

The number of qualifiers for the two final stages is a new rule this year. Previously only 40 could qualify.

Prize-money for the professionals totals £500, of which the winner will get £100, and the championship medal. If an amateur wins he will only get the medal. The prestige, however, is worth far more than the prize money. For the latter it is estimated to be worth at least £1,000 in various ways, such as advertising and so forth.

THE COURSE

The old course at St. Andrews, the home of golf, headquarters of the Royal and Ancient club, by whose rules all other golf bodies in the world abide, is the most famous links in the world. It is believed that the game originated there hundreds of years ago.

Its length is 6,812 yards, and it has a par of 72. The amateur record is held by Bobby Jones (69), and the professional by the late William Nolan (67).

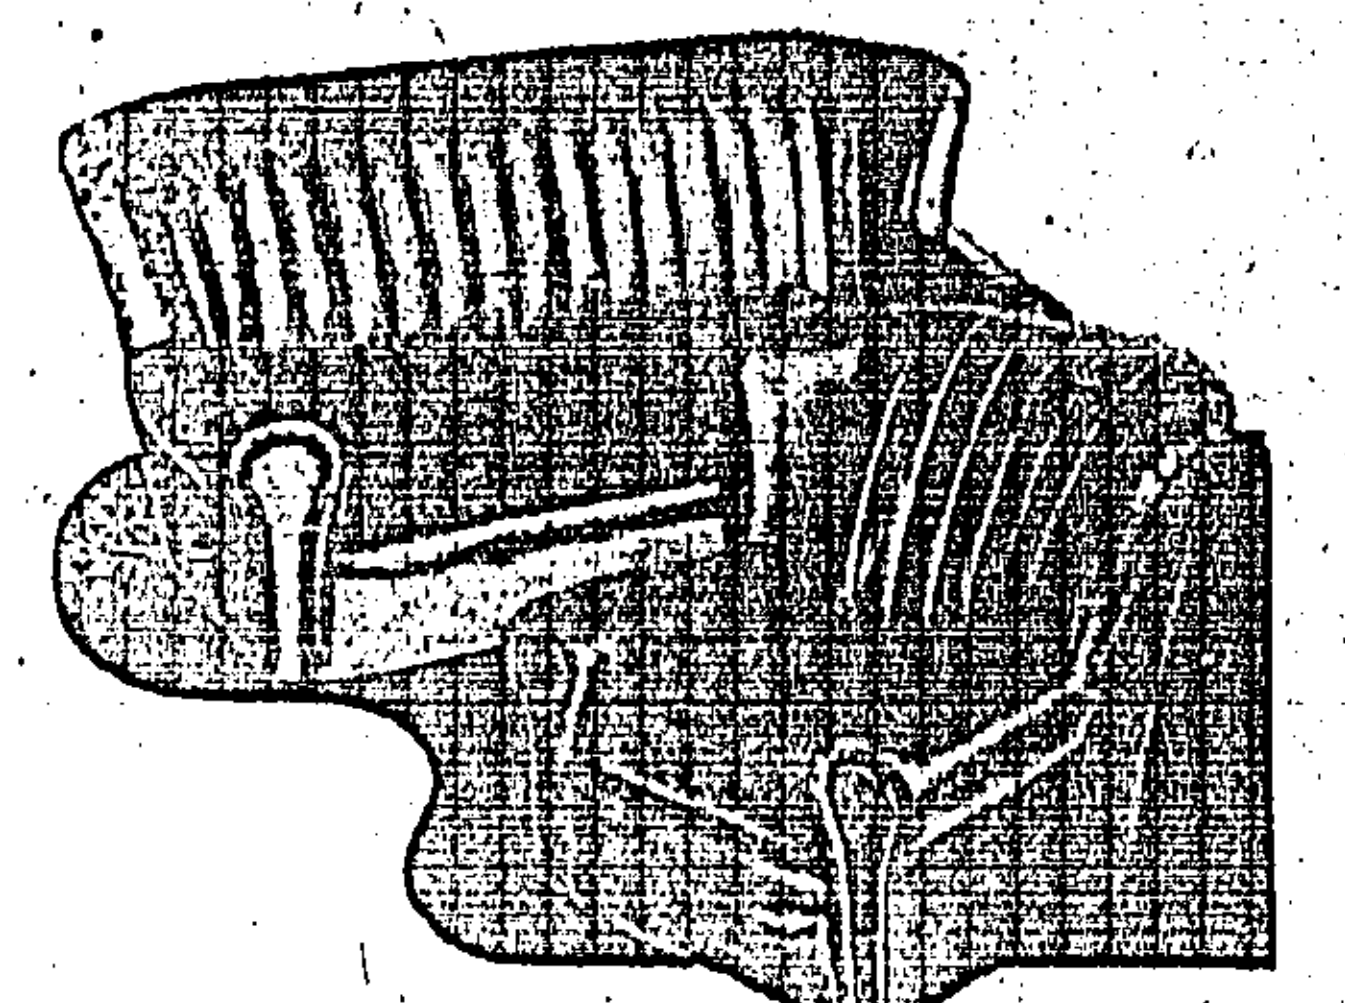

The new course on which half the first two qualifying rounds will be played, measures 6,416 yards, and has a par of 30-36-72.

Here are the pairings for the first two qualifying rounds. They are in order of starting, but times are not yet available. Amateurs are marked thus (X). Amateurs are marked thus (X).

COLONY'S REVENUE DECLINES

Adverse Balance For Last Month

For the first time for over a year, the Colony's monthly credit balance, shows a slight decline, the balance at the end of May being $16,175,501.25 as compared with $16,285,310.00 at the end of April.

Expenditure during May was $79,750 in excess of revenue, the former totalling $2,889,540 and the latter $2,809,790.

Revenue for the month also showed a decrease as compared with May, 1938. A year ago the revenue amounted to $3,154,397, which was $354,579 more than May last. However, revenue for the year to date amounts to $17,450,408, which is $2,122,753 in excess of the revenue for the same period last year, and is 50 per cent of the estimated revenue for the whole of 1939.

Duties during May showed an increase of over $200,000, while the Post Office receipts were up from $274,000 in 1938 to $287,014 this year. The Kowloon-Canton railway showed a decline of nearly $100,000 income for May being but $67,752 as compared with $165,776 a year ago.

Land Sales Slump

Land Sales were also badly down, being a mere $40,001 as compared with $143,306 during May last year. While expenditure for May exceeded income, the total was also smaller than a year ago, being $2,889,540 compared with $3,554,017, and as a result expenditure for the year is only slightly more than for the corresponding period of 1938, being $14,843,082 compared with $14,203,960.

Chief expenditure items during May were $200,000 military contribution, $206,570 for the police force, $237,417 for pensions, $229,537 for miscellaneous services, $177,787 for medical department, $144,893 for the education department, and $147,169 for public works department. Charitable services for the month cost $52,487, which was an increase over that for 1938 of nearly $20,000. This item so far this year has cost $357,813 compared with $223,596 a year ago.

European And Chinese Fight

Alleged abuse directed by a Chinese girl to the wife of a European led to a fight in King's Park yesterday which culminated in the appearance in Kowloon Court this morning of a Chinese and a European, both of whom were charged with disorderly conduct by fighting.

The European was Henry H. Blyth, 33-year-old marine engineer residing in King's Road. The Chinese was Li Cheung, 22-year-old cloth dealer.

Both men pleaded guilty and were bound over to be of good behaviour for twelve months.

Inspector A. Wright, who prosecuted, said that Li was sitting by the roadside at King's Park when Mr. and Mrs. Blyth walked past.

"The girl with Li commenced abusing Blyth's wife," the Inspector said.

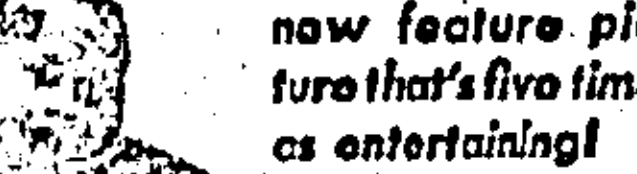

"As a result the two men started an argument, during which insulting words were used on both sides, and the affair ended in a fight."

Beach Suit You Can Make In Two Hours

It should not take you more than two hours to make this gay beach two-piece for wearing over your swim suit.

In a vivid cotton print, or a sailor design in white on a soft or royal blue, it will make up quite inexpensively.

The pattern above is for 36in. chest and 28in. waist.

MATERIALS.—3yd. cotton, linen or fine woollen 36in. to 39in. width. (If braiding—7yd. 34in. to 1in. contrast braiding.) Lightning plastic fastener in 18in. to 20in. length, or five buttons. (Without vestee, one button for waistband only, or plastic fastener for skirt as above.)

LAY-OUT.—Place fabric lengthways on the table, fold as indicated. Then take a pencil or chalk, and mark along the lines of the cut-out to the measurements given. Cut carefully. Half-inch seams are allowed all over. Pin and tack before fitting or cutting further.

MAKE-UP.—Take the bolero front panels A & B and pin along the shoulders to the bolero back C at notches vv. Pin the darts at underarms, then pin sides of A and B to C at notch v, forming the bolero. Tack and fit before final sewing or machining seams.

If you bind the edge with a contrasting braid, get a 3/4in. braid and fold it over the edges, sewing invisibly along inside and outside, showing 3/4in. braid on the right side.

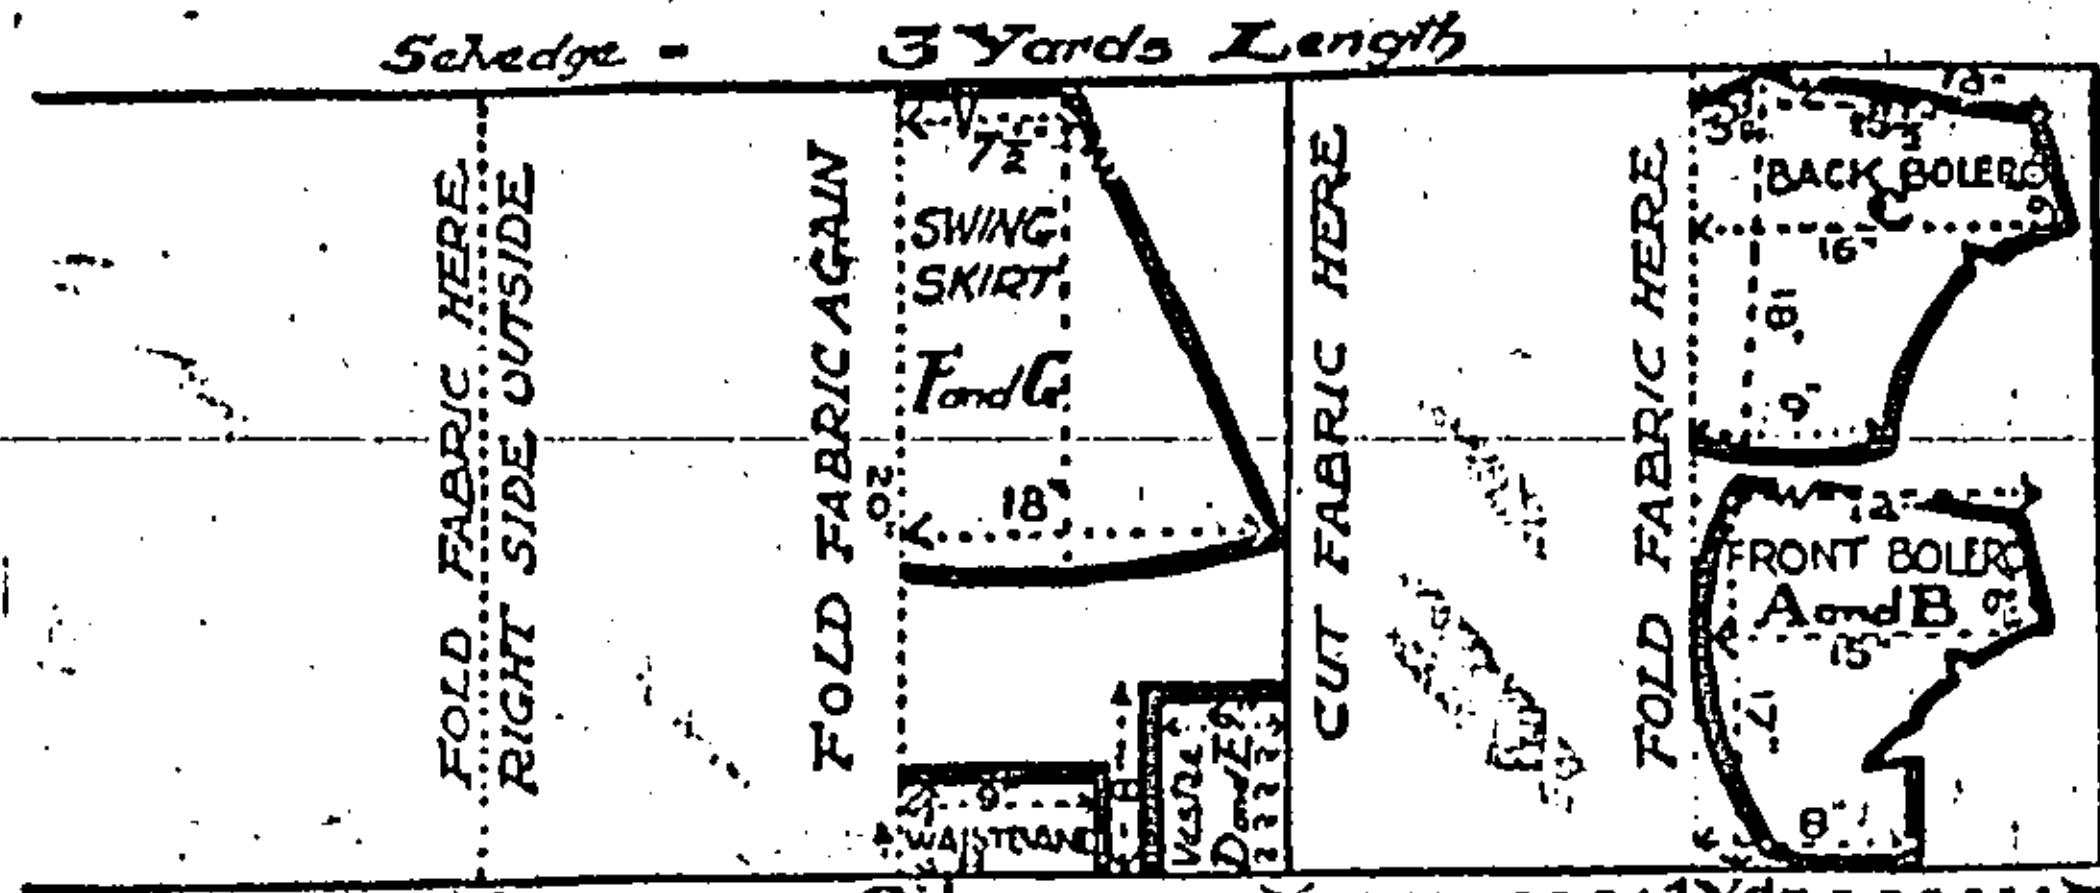

Now take the skirt pieces F and G, pin and tack along from waist to hem, on one side only at notches vv. Leave the other edges open. These edges form the centre-front (and opening) of the skirt—the stitched seam should fall at centre back.

Finish with braiding as for the bolero round hem and up centre front edges, unless introducing a lightning fastener, when edges should be placed flat on fastener tape and machined close in to "teeth."

Take the 4in. waistband H and fold in two over waist-top of skirt, making a 2in. waistband—join from the front open edges. Tack this and fit before closing or cutting buttonhole.

NOTE.—The open edges should fall exactly centre-front, allowing a wrap-over of some 2in. to the left side—or if you have the lightning-fastener version, have a separated fastener and cut away the skirt fullness from the waist to fit exactly 2in. left of centre-front—or exactly central if you are having the vestee in the bolero.

If you are making the vestee version of the bolero, braid three sides of each vestee panel D and E or finish as rest of bolero.

Salads For Summer Days

WHEN you begin summer-time salads, concentrate on combining the essential vitamins A, D and C, so that your vitality is not lowered during the warm days. Green salad and yellow vegetables and fruit are excellent, but not sufficient in themselves. You must know how to mix them to get the right diet.

Prepare a salad with a bed of crisp lettuce leaves, a surround of cucumber and watercress, a centre of sliced tomato, again surrounded by mixed chopped vegetables such as carrots, turnip, celery, beet, and French beans, "topped" by a sliced boiled egg, and a little French dressing.

Take this salad with a roll, or two (tinned) pineapple. Served with slices of bread, with plenty of butter, mayonnaise, it gives you Vitamins A, B1, and C, or with egg-yolk, to make it a more complete meal, it gives you Vitamins A, B1, C and D, which include iron, iodine and calcium.

Another appetising vegetable salad can be prepared with diced carrots, new peas and radishes on a bed of crisp lettuce, surrounded by thinly sliced cucumber, complete with rind.

This salad gives you Vitamins A and D—so that you need Vitamin A in a light "fatty" fish course, or cheese with biscuits or roll and butter to follow.

For a chicken salad, the chicken should be diced, added to a cupful of apple slices, one tiny cube of cream, diced celery and fresh or chunk

ORANGES and grapefruit should form the main ingredients in any vitamin C salad, since these fruits, with lemon (which can only be used in the form of juice in salads) are the richest sources. To derive full benefit from them they should not be cooked, as Vitamin C is easily destroyed.

These make delicious Vitamin C salads:

Grapefruit and orange slices served on crisp lettuce with a centre mound of apple slices, one tiny cube of cream, cheese, and French dressing.

Orange slices served with banana rings and diced apple on a bed of lettuce with a little lemon juice and brown sugar sprinkled over.

HEALTH CAMPAIGN
Many Enter for Annual Babies Contest

Promoted by Messrs. A. S. Watson and Co., Ltd., the third annual Baby Health Campaign, in connection with their proprietary medicine, Watson's Baby Water, was held in the Commercial Hall, Caroline Hill, yesterday.

Scores of Chinese babies were entered for the contest, the judging of which was in the hands of Dr. F. I. Tseung, Dr. K. Y. Lai and Dr. C. F. X. da Roza. It was open to consumers of Watson's Baby Water only.

The babies entered were between the age of three and eighteen months. Entries were unlimited but were conditional on two empty Baby Water bottles being handed in.

The healthiest baby, according to charts prepared by doctors based on age, height, weight and general physical condition, was awarded the first prize of a silver cup and a $75 cash coupon. The second prize was a silver shield and a $50 cash coupon, and the third prize, a silver shield and a $25 cash coupon.

Twenty babies were selected to compete in the final, and the judges had a fairly hard task in deciding. The ultimate prize winners were: 1—

Wong Chat-yee, aged four months 2,
Wong Shun-nien, aged four months;
3, Chan Chan-long, aged 10 months.
All were boys.

The other seventeen were awarded consolation prizes of a $5 cash coupon each. Thirty consolation prizes of $3 each were awarded to the successful drawers of numbers from a drum. At the conclusion of the contest, souvenir bags containing Watson's baby foods were distributed.

Messrs. Cow and Gate and Nestle's Milk also donated prizes comprising samples of the firms' milk foods. The prizes were distributed by Mr. Ngai Shing-kwan, Managing Director of the China Motor Bus Co. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Jupp and Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Langston. Mr. Jupp is representative of Messrs. John D. Humphreys and Son, General Managers of Messrs. A. S. Watson and Co., Ltd., while Mr. Langston is the Hongkong agent for Messrs. Cow and Gate.

LATE NEWS

Legal Fight For Six Steamers

A petition for the winding up of the Ching Kee Steam Navigation Company Ltd. was brought before the Chief Justice, Sir Althol McGreggor, at the Supreme Court this morning by Shiang Kee, otherwise known as the China Merchants Steam Navigation Co. Ltd.

Mr. Eldon Potter K.C. and Mr. H. Macnamara, instructed by Mr. D. L. Strellet, appeared for the petitioners. Outlining the case, Mr. Eldon Potter said that the Ching Kee Steam Navigation Co. Ltd. was incorporated with limited liability under the laws of the Republic of China on April 1, 1920, and at all material times had a branch office in this Colony.

The Company are the owners of twenty steamships, of which six are now and have been for about eighteen months lying in the waters of this Colony," Mr. Potter proceeded. "The Company has, since the year 1920, had a place of business in this Colony, and latterly at 156 Wing Lok Street, and was carrying on business at that address up to the middle of January this year.

"Since the outbreak of hostilities in 1937, the business of the company in Hongkong has practically ceased, and the six steamships referred to have remained in the waters of this Colony."

"Since the middle of January this year the officers of the company formerly in charge of the business in Hongkong have ceased to control the affairs of the company, nor have they attended at the offices of the company or opened any other place of business in Hongkong."

Japanese Co. Steps In

"Towards the beginning of February this year the Japanese Kisen Kaisha—a Japanese company with a branch office in Hongkong—claimed to have received authority from the company to take possession of and control the movements of the said ships now lying in the waters of this Colony, and as representatives of the company, applied to the Harbour Master for clearances in respect of the steamships Man Lee and An Lee."

"As a result of certain proceedings before the Court the clearances of the said two steamships was ordered to be stopped. The petitioners are shareholders in the company, holding 1,500 shares of $50 each, fully paid. On the petition of the petitioners, an order was made by the District Court of Chungking in February this year that the company be immediately wound up and that Jun Ke-choy, Ting Z. Chang and Yuen Wu-wong be appointed liquidators. The company is indebted to various persons in Hongkong and can only carry on business in the Republic of China for the purpose of winding up its affairs."

"In view of the existence of the Sino-Japanese hostilities, for the company to carry on its business would either involve it in a breach of the laws of China with regard to trading with the enemy, or result in the seizure of the ships by hostile forces."

"In the circumstances it is just and equitable that the company should be wound up. There is a danger to the assets, principally the said steamships now lying in Hongkong waters, unless a winding up order is made and liquidators appointed."

(Proceeding.)

"We Are Going Back To Reich"

DANZIG, July 2.—Herr Albert Forster, speaking to-day at a wildly cheering district party rally, declared in words addressed to Britain and her allies:

"We stand firm. We want to return to Germany, and we are going to return to Germany. One word of the Fuehrer's carries ten thousand times more weight with us than all the war cries and lying provocations of the world."

"In Danzig, no one need disturb himself—no measure by Poland can frighten Danzig. If the Fuehrer brings freedom to Danzig, then this German population will stand together as one man in brazen loyalty to the Fuehrer and to Germany, and it will be prepared for any sacrifice the Fuehrer demands—sacrifices not only of goods, but of blood and life."

The encirclement Powers are prepared in opposition to all their theories of self-determination to go to war in order that right may not be right, but may remain for wrong. They are ready to deliver Danzig to Poland, rather than agree to the fulfilment of the desire of the solid Danzig population for a return to the Reich.—Reuter.

Police Sergeant L. A. Cockburn ordered them to withdrawn to the Tatoo territory.

None of the shots hit either Cockburn or two Chinese constables who were accompanying him. A Municipal Police riot squad was rushed to the scene; but the Tatoo Police withdrew from the scene before its arrival.—United Press.

Japan's Press Campaign

Tokyo, July 3.

The Japanese propaganda campaign aiming at "enlightening the Japanese people on England" was started on Sunday with numerous mass demonstrations.

It is becoming more and more obvious that this propaganda campaign is to serve in preparing the Japanese position in the forthcoming negotiations with Britain.

The Japanese press on Sunday spoke of the "Munich of the Far East." London must now prove that it is willing to adopt herself to the changed situation in the Far East.

The papers unanimously stress Japan's irrevocable decision to develop East Asia according to the wish of the Japanese people, against all possible resistance.—Trans-Ocean.

No Deterioration

LONDON, July 2.

The situation in Danzig has not deteriorated in the last 24 hours, although tension remains, according to information received in London from the Free City, writes "Reuter's" diplomatic correspondent.

The Polish Government apparently have no intention of allowing themselves to be stampeded into action by events such as the continued arrival of German so-called tourists in large numbers. The Government is fully satisfied with assurances received from His Majesty's Government, according to reliable reports from Warsaw.—Reuter Special.
